Missouri Economic Research and Information Center*

The Missouri Women's Council

The Missouri Women's Council was established in 1985 by the State's 83rd General Assembly to identify and address issues affecting the economic and employment status of women in Missouri. The first name of the council was the Missouri Council on Women's Economic Development and Training (MCWEDT). The name was changed to the Missouri Women's Council in 1994.

It is the intent of the Missouri Women's Council to work closely with other agencies and community-based organizations to build awareness, educate, promote opportunities for, and enhance the lives and well being of Missouri's women and families. By providing information and resources to enhance the employability and skill development of women and families, we provide support to women as they pursue their economic goals.

The Council is an agency within the Department of Economic Development. The bipartisan Council is comprised of 15 members: 11 appointed by the Governor, 2 Missouri State Senators, and 2 Missouri State Representatives with the chair appointed by the governor. An Executive Director serves the Missouri Women's Council and the women of Missouri.

The Self-Sufficiency Standard was originally developed for Wider Opportunities for Women as part of the State Organizing Project for Family Economic Self-Sufficiency (FESS) by Dr. Diana Pearce, who was at that time Director of the Women and Poverty Project at Wider Opportunities for Women (WOW). The Ford Foundation provided funding for its original development. The Missouri Women's Council has been a lead partner in the FESS project since 2002.

The 2002 Self-Sufficiency Standard for Missouri was produced in partnership between Wider Opportunities for Women (WOW), Dr. Diana Pearce at the University of Washington, and the Missouri Women's Council. This work is part of the national Family Economic Self-Sufficiency project, convened by WOW, to provide state-level advocates and governments with tools to help them strengthen government investments in low-income families.

The Missouri Family Wage publication is based on this original work.

Center for Women's Welfare

The Center for Women's Welfare at the University of Washington is devoted to furthering the goal of economic justice for women and their families. Under the direction of Dr. Diana Pearce, the Center researches questions involving poverty measures, public policies and programs that address income adequacy. The Center partners with a range of non-profit, women's, children's, and community-based groups to evaluate public policy, to devise tools for analyzing wage adequacy and to help create programs to strengthen public investment in low-income women, children, and families. For more information about the Center's programs, or work related to the Self-Sufficiency Standard, call (206) 685-5264.

Wider Opportunities for Women

Wider Opportunities for Women (WOW) works nationally and in its home community of Washington, D.C. to achieve economic independence and equality of opportunity for women and girls. For over 40 years, WOW has been a leader in the areas of nontraditional employment, job training and education, literacy, welfare to work and workforce development policy. WOW is recognized nationally for its skill training models, technical assistance and advocacy for women workers.

Missouri Family Affirming Wages

Understanding the Measure

Missouri families must arrange their budgets to meet a variety of expenses each month. From rent or mortgage payments to transportation costs and daycare needs, there are regular costs for every family.

The Missouri Family Affirming Wages study attempts to quantify the wages needed to meet a Missouri family's basic needs. This measure of family need identifies basic expenses for different family types for each county in the state and the subsequent wages the family would need to earn to cover those expenses.

Seventy different family types for each county in Missouri are represented in this study. Families include one-adult and two-adult families and range from a single adult with no children, to single parent households, to families with two working adults. Based on the composition of these family types, the study is customized to provide an estimate of the wages a family needs to earn in order to meet the most basic family expenses of housing, childcare, food, transportation, health care, telephone, taxes and miscellaneous expenses by geographic location.

How Missouri Family Wages are Different

The Missouri Family Wages study is a unique measure of the wages families in the state need to earn to meet their needs. There are several aspects of the Missouri Family Wages measure that differentiate it compared to other measures of income adequacy, like the federal poverty guidelines.

First, the Missouri Family Wages study takes into account how costs can vary with different ages of children. Childcare costs for infants and children before they enter school are much higher than for a child attending school full-time. Missouri Family Wages also provides a geographic breakdown of each of the basic expenses a family incurs. Regional variation in basic expenses differs depending on the type of expense. A third aspect of the study is the inclusion of sales, state and federal taxes. The Missouri Family Wages are calculated by combining taxes with the expenses, making it similar to a measure of gross pay.

Unlike other benchmarks of income, Missouri Family Wages provides not only the total hourly, monthly and annual wage necessary for a family to earn enough to meet their needs, but also a detailed breakdown of each of the expenses that determined the family's wage level. This level of detail greatly expands the possible uses of the information.

One especially unique aspect of this study is that it takes into consideration the differences in the costs a family incurs with or without employer-sponsored health insurance. Estimated health care expenses for those without health insurance are considerably larger than those with employer-sponsored health insurance.

How the Missouri Family Wages Report can be Used

The Missouri Family Wages report and related tools have a variety of applications to meet a wide array of needs. There are potential uses for students, job seekers, educators, businesses and Missouri families.

Education and Job Seekers

For students and jobseekers, the information can be used as an educational tool when considering what type of career to pursue and if that career will provide enough to pay for their needs. The entry or average wage of an occupation can be compared to the Family Wage for their geography and family type. A person can then make an informed decision about if the career they are pursuing will adequately match the type of lifestyle they desire.

The Missouri Family Wages can assist with financial management and budget making as well. The report provides an analysis of the basic costs of a family. Educators can use this information to teach about the importance of budgets and financial responsibility. Paired with the interactive Missouri Family Wages online calculator (www.missourieconomy.org/familywage), students can first view the average costs for families in their area and then create their own inputs for the wage calculator and see how adjustments to different expenses affects the wages a family would need to earn to meet expenses.

Further, a young person can use the tool to estimate the wages they would need to earn to be able to afford to live on their own. The Missouri Family Wages report includes cost calculations and wage levels for many family types, including single person families. Using the report, a person can determine if they can afford to maintain the most basic needs of their own household in the county of their choice.

Businesses

The Missouri Family Wages can also be used by employers. One possibility is to use the Missouri Family Wages to assist with wage setting. Identifying the essential wages in a county can allow businesses to compare the wages they currently pay to the Missouri Family Wage estimates and ensure that the wages allow workers to be self-reliant in their region.

The option to compare wages with or without employer provided health insurance also allows businesses to analyze costs for their employees, along with the costs the business pays for health insurance programs.

In addition, businesses that are recruiting employees can use the Missouri Family Affirming Wages tools to estimate costs of relocation for employees. Average cost estimates on factors such as housing and childcare could be valuable resources to potential employees.

Families

Missouri families can use the package of Missouri Family Wage tools to analyze the impact of wages and expenses on family decisions. Individual families can use these tools when working on their family budgets. For example, the report and online calculator can be used to estimate basic expense increases if a family is thinking about adding a child. By having both the one- and two-working adults family types available, it is also possible for a family to estimate the feasibility of one adult working while the other stays home to care for children. Generally, the arrangement decreases childcare costs, but requires the remaining working adult to earn a higher wage.

The Missouri Family Affirming Wages and component costs have a number of uses for a variety of groups. In using the estimates for any purpose, it is most important to view the Missouri Family Wage levels as a starting point for a family to meet basic needs. From that point, a family would likely wish to strive for the financial freedom to improve their lifestyle even further with a budget that allows for savings, future planning and recreation. The Missouri Family Affirming Wages report, website and resource guide are tools to assist a family in reaching those goals.

Missouri Family Wages Web Calculator and Estimator

Missouri Family Wages for a selection of eight family types either with or without employer provided health insurance are available in the Appendix for each county in Missouri. Wage estimates for all seventy family types can be found using the Family Wage Calculator on the Missouri Family Wages website at www.missourieconomy.org/familywage. This interactive website allows anyone to select a family type through a simple process and see the wages necessary to sustain a family of that composition in that county. Users can compare multiple counties and family types.

An additional feature on the website is the Missouri Family Wage Estimator. One can simply plug in their own monthly costs for housing, childcare, food, transportation, health care, telephone, sales tax, other taxes and miscellaneous expenses and the estimator will calculate the wages a person needs to earn to meet those expenses. With this estimator it is possible for a Missourian to run real-life cost scenarios, customizing the information to their own needs. For example, the monthly housing cost could be adjusted to estimate the wages one needs to earn to be able to afford different housing options in their area.

What if You Aren't Making Family Affirming Wages

The natural progression for a family that finds themselves below the Missouri Family Wage for their area and family type is to first strive to reach financial independence by meeting the Missouri Family Wage, but then also progress beyond that level to allow for important expenses beyond the most basic needs of the family.

If a family finds that they are earning below the family affirming wage levels for their area, there are resources to assist them. There may be training or education programs, job search assistance or other resources available. A Women's Resource Guide for families is available at the Missouri Women's Council website.

Description and Sources of Expenses

Housing

The Missouri Family Affirming Wages report uses the Department of Housing and Urban Development Fair Market Rents for the Section Eight Housing Assistance Payments Program for Fiscal Year 2005. Fair market rents are calculated annually for every metropolitan and housing market (PMSA and MSA) and every non-metropolitan county totaling over 400 housing market areas for the nation. Fair market rents include utilities except for telephone and cable and are intended to reflect the cost of housing that meets minimum standards of decency but is not luxurious. They reflect the cost of housing at the 40th percentile level. Fair Market Rents (FMR) are based on data from the U.S. Census, the annual American Housing Survey, and telephone surveys.

For the purpose of this report, it is assumed that parents and children do not share the same bedroom and that there are not more than two children per bedroom. For example, single adults would have a one bedroom apartment, a family with one child would have a two bedroom apartment, a family with two children would also have a two bedroom apartment, and families with three or four children require three bedrooms. Single adults are assumed to be in one bedroom apartments rather than studios or efficiencies due to the lack of this type of housing in some parts of Missouri, especially rural areas.

Childcare

The 2007 Missouri Family Wage study uses the Missouri Childcare Market Rate Survey for 2005 which is conducted by the Missouri Department of Social Services. This survey provides day-time, night-time and full and part-time childcare costs for infants, preschoolers, and school age children in Missouri. It is assumed that infants receive full time care in daycare homes (an average of group home rates and family home rates). Daycare home rates are used for infants because it is more common for very young children to be in childcare homes rather than centers.

The cost for preschool childcare is a weighted average of all types of care, (group home rates, family home rates, and daycare centers). Preschool children in households with working parents are assumed to need full time care. Child care for school aged children is also calculated as a weighted average of all types of care, (group home rates, family home rates and daycare centers). However, school aged children, because of their school attendance, are assumed to only need part-time child care. It is assumed that teenagers do not need child care.

All childcare rates are calculated at the 75th percentile level and are categorized by metro, non-metro, and rest of state as classified by the Missouri Childcare Market Rate Survey for 2005.

Source:

Missouri Childcare Market Rate Survey 2005

Mandated by the Family Support Act, this report provides childcare rates for each Missouri county at the 75th percentile by age of child and setting.

Infants (0-1+ years): Full Time Care in Daycare Homes (Average of Group Homes and Family Homes)

Pre-Schoolers (2-5+ years): Full Time Care (Cost is averaged across all three types of care: Centers, Family, and Group)

School Age (6-12 years): Half-day (Cost is averaged across all three types of care: Centers, Family, and Group)

Teenager (13 +): Assumed not to require childcare. However, younger children in families with teenage children are assumed to require childcare based on the assumption that teenagers may work or participate in after school activities.

Food

Missouri Family Wages uses the U.S. Department of Agriculture Low Cost Food Plan to determine food costs. The Low-Cost plan does not allow for any take-out, fast food, or restaurant meals. It is assumed to be the amount that families would need to meet their daily nutrition requirements at home.

The food costs in the USDA Low Cost Food Plan vary according to the age and number of children in a family and the age and gender of adults. In calculating food costs national averages are used for different family types to represent the state of Missouri.

Missouri's 1.225 percent sales tax on food purchases was applied to family food cost totals.

Transportation

The 2007 Missouri Family Wages report assumes that all workers in the state use private transportation to get to work. The assumption is made that if there are two adults in the family they need two cars. It is unlikely that two adults with two jobs will be able to manage their schedules so that they are traveling to and from the same place at exactly the same time.

Private transportation costs are based on the cost of buying, operating, and owning a used car. These costs include the fixed costs of buying and using a relatively inexpensive used car (approximate value of $2,500) including finance charges and liability insurance. They also include monthly variable costs such as gas, repairs, and maintenance.

To estimate fixed costs this report used the Missouri Department of Insurance Annual Passenger Premium for 2004. It also used the Bureau of Labor Statistics 2004 averages of consumers in the 2nd Quintile for Licenses, Registration, and Taxes on Automobiles. At the time of the report, 2004 costs were the most current data available.

Variable costs of transportation were estimated by using U.S. Census Travel to Work Characteristics Average Commute Time by County. Automobile maintenance and repair was calculated using the Bureau of Labor Statistics Consumer Expenditure Survey Averages of consumers in the 2nd Quintile for Automobile Maintenance and Repair. Fuel prices were obtained from the AAA Fuel Gauge Report. The fuel costs used were December 13, 2005 averages. Fuel costs used metropolitan area averages for all counties in Missouri metropolitan areas and the Missouri average for all other counties.

Health Care

Health care costs for insured individuals include the employee's share of out-of-pocket expenses, such as co-payments, uncovered expenses (e.g. dental care and prescriptions), and insurance deductibles. Estimates for family and individual premiums as well as co-payments were obtained from the Medical Expenditure Panel Survey for 2005.

The Missouri Family Affirming Wages study provides the option of calculating expenses with or without employer subsidized health care. MERIC has attempted to estimate Missouri Family Wages for individuals who work but who do not receive employer subsidized health care. Estimates of health care costs for the uninsured are from a report by the Kaiser Commission on Medicaid and the Uninsured. This report calculates the average amount a person without health insurance would spend on medical expenses if they were insured.

There are several factors to be aware of with using this figure. First it is a national average and does not vary by age or geography. Second, it does not vary by family health so it might not adequately represent the health and associated expenses of a family. Despite these drawbacks, it at least gives some indication of the true cost of maintaining a family without employer subsidized health care. Readers will note that Missouri Family Wages for individuals without subsidized health care are significantly higher than wages for individuals who have access to employer subsidized health care.

Telephone

Telephone costs are the average cost for local telephone services in Missouri. The cost is fixed across the state and is an average of commercial rates for major carriers.

Miscellaneous

This expense category includes all other essentials such as clothing, nonprescription medicines, paper products, school supplies for children, and cleaning supplies. It does not allow for recreation, entertainment, or savings. Miscellaneous expenses are calculated as ten percent of all other costs.

Taxes

Taxes include state sales tax and state and federal income taxes. The sales tax in Missouri varies by city and county. In calculating sales tax, the highest tax rate in each county is used to represent the county (since most high tax rates were in the most populated city.) Sales tax was applied to the “miscellaneous” portion of the Missouri Family Wages budget since sales tax is not paid on other items such as housing and medical expenses. Indirect taxes such as property taxes are assumed to be included in the price of rent. Taxes on gasoline and automobiles are included in the cost of owning and operating a car. Taxes on food were included in total food costs.

Income tax figures were calculated using an average of effective tax rates for state and federal income taxes and were provided by the Missouri Department of Revenue. These effective tax rates included the effect of the Earned Income Tax Credit, the Childcare Tax Credit, and the Child Tax Credit on income tax payments.

The Missouri Economic Research and Information Center

The Missouri Economic Research and Information Center (MERIC) provides comprehensive analysis of Missouri's socioeconomic environment at the local, regional and state levels. To achieve this, MERIC employs a wide array of tools, which include econometric models, geographic information systems and advanced statistical methods. On-going projects at MERIC include targeted development, economic and social impact assessments, industry and occupational analyses, career seeker products and information on Missouri's demographic and economic trends.

Coupled with its analysis capability, MERIC maintains a comprehensive labor market database produced in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Labor. Data on employment/unemployment, wages, layoffs, labor availability and a variety of other information designed to help understand the state's labor market conditions are regularly reported.

Ultimately, MERIC's mission is to provide accurate, relevant and timely information to decision makers and the public in order to facilitate a better understanding of Missouri's socioeconomic environment.

The Missouri Women's Council extends special thanks to Roderick Nunn and the Division of Workforce Development for supporting this publication.
